

During the interview, both you and the employer get to ask questions and decide if you want to work together. You want to put your best foot forward, so follow these eight tips to help you stand out and ace your next interview.

- 01 Be yourself and show genuine interest in the role and company.
- 02 Maintain eye contact, be mindful of your posture and body language, and offer a firm handshake to convey confidence.
- 03 Listen carefully to all questions, if you don't understand something, politely ask them to clarify.
- 04 Take a moment to think about how you are going to respond.
- 05 Provide clear, concise answers, don't ramble or go off-topic.
- 06 Ask thoughtful questions about the role and company.
- 07 Show equal respect to everyone you meet during the process.
- 08 Say thank you to each person on the interview panel to show appreciation.
